

STARCHER SCENE

JANUARY 1, 2007

ADDITIONAL CLARIFICATION

Based on some feedback I've gotten, the last letter we sent out wasn't nearly as clear on paper as it sounded in my head. I figured it'd be worth devoting another letter answering some of the questions people have asked in the last three weeks regarding our transition.

Are you still working with Campus Crusade?

Yes, on a part time basis. My position now is essentially a volunteer position. The only difference between my position (Affiliate Staff), and a normal volunteer is that I'm allowed to maintain an expense account to cover ministry expenses. That expense account is funded by your continuing contributions. If there were no money in that account, I would continue to volunteer, but my spending would be limited to what Amanda and I can afford out of pocket (which won't be much while she's in school).

What expenses do you expect to incur?

While I was in Orlando at our national headquarters, all of our operating expenses were paid for out of the national technology budget. With my move to Chicago, and my change from full time staff to part time staff, this will no longer be the case. Even though I will still be working mostly with the same people, I will now be on my own for hardware and software expenses. I will also be paying for my own web hosting for the ministry projects I'll be working on. I will also need to travel about twice a year for meetings and conferences.

Do you still need our monetary support?

Yes. We still need financial support, but not as much of it as we needed previously. Since we will no longer be receiving pay checks from crusade, all of the money you send will go to pay for the ministry expenses I talked about above. I'm currently estimating needing a $10,000 budget for the projects I have planned for 2007. In future letters I'll go into more detail with the specific projects I'm working on. In light of our reduced budget, I'd encourage you to pray about whether God would have you continue supporting us at your current amount, continue supporting us at a reduced amount, or redirect that money to someone else who is still in full time ministry. We are very appreciative of your support over the past couple years, would love your continued support if you feel the Lord leading you to continue to partner with what we're doing.

If we continue to partner with you, where do we send the money?

Nothing has changed with regards to where the money is sent. It should still go to Campus Crusade for Christ, with our account number on it (0559826).

What is your new contact information?

My email address will remain the same, and our new address is at the top of this letter.

I hope this letter was helpful in clarifying some details. If you have any additional questions please feel free to call or email me any time. Thanks!
